Criteria Used to Judge Entries

Physical Quality:

Legibility of print, overall quality of paper and binding
Definitive title page, author's name, year of publication
Index and table of contents

Readability:

Preface (why author wrote/compiled book)
Introduction (what is generally covered in book, value to whom)
Clarity in presentation (if numbering system used, adequate explanation provided)
Correct grammar, punctuation, sentence structure

Research Quality

Research sources noted by inclusions in text, footnotes
Traditions or "family stories" clearly identified
Variety and authenticity of sources (need official records, not just earlier books or internet)
